Hercule Poirot is a fictional Belgian detective created by British writer Agatha Christie. Poirot is one of Christie's best-known and longest-running works. In the late 1980s, British director Peter Ustinov took on the task of adapting Agatha Christie's Poirot on the Trail for television. And his first film, The Man Who Knew Too Much, became a kind of debut in the cinema for the actor Roger Moore, who played the main role in it. In the early 1990s, Ustinov created two more films based on the novel, Murder on the Orient Express (1994) and Murder on the Orient Express (2004). The first was his last work as a director.
