There have been several cases where volunteers come in to finish the work that our teams usually complete on site. In most cases, the only thing the volunteers do is clean up the area around the dead bodies and help load the equipment into our trucks. The volunteers at the Rancho Magdalena Fire Station also sweep up the areas of devastation around the Station. The following photos show some of these volunteers. Our volunteer numbers at each Station depend on which teams are working on the day. In the past three years, our overall volunteer total has increased
