Legal Blunder Increases Brian Basham's Prison Sentence posted by Tom - Nov 1, 2017 Attorney Brian Basham says the Kansas Commission on Judicial Discipline didn't give him the full sentence of the man he represented. He says his client's mistake of trying to make a plea deal before their arraignment led to a sentence that was higher than the state attorney recommended. Prosecutors originally charged Basham with two counts of aggravated indecent liberties with a child, but during their plea hearing Basham asked that the charges be withdrawn because they were too vague and because he had never done anything like this before. But Basham admitted during the plea hearing that he took a nude photo of the victim with a cell phone and sent it via text message to a woman in which he wrote "I'm your husband. You're older than me—I want to see your body." Those were the charges on which Basham ultimately agreed to plead guilty. At the plea hearing Basham was given a
