A fairy tale about the criminal investigation that haunted the whole world. Thousands years ago a criminal genius was working in this city. It's name was Dr. Medbay. He was planning to create the ultimate weapon, the weapon that would turn the world into a fertile paradise for the mankind. But everything was turned upside down. Medbay disappeared and suddenly the whole of the world was submerged in water. Although the World was flooded, some people survived. Blue Hope is a young girl which was survivor of the flooding. She was found by wonderful scientist Stenheim who was diving for pearls from the wrecks of lost vessels. Stenheim and Blue Hope try to find the answers and find the culprit of the Medbay's disappearance. Trapwires / Locks: Upgrade your traps with the parts you find along the way and finish off the bandits! Traps: Game is intended for Windows 7, 8 and 10. Check out this trailer for a brief overview of the game. Download the game here: www.playtrapwires.com Game design notes: Trapwires / Locks: Player - Open world: You will be able to wander the world, camp up and unlock objectives. - Reach max level: At level 20 you get the 'Breakfast' achievement. - All resources are scattered around the world and will be accessible at various points: Toxic waste - All over the world, easy to find. The less toxic it is, the easier it is to dismantle and dispose of. - Lazarveins - They will spawn in mines and across the map. Always hunt the most dangerous ones first. - Wood - There is no real wood in the world. You can craft tools from different parts of a dead mob, or you can pick up small amounts of wood from the world. - Looting chests - Open world, will randomly spawn chests and barrels. - Looting an enemy's inventory: Workshop: Camps - Locate one and stash a bunch of stuff in there. You can create some walls and a base inside the camp. - Camp is a safe place where you can stash loot. - Look out for Gangs of bandits and zombies in the world. They will roam the world and try to destroy your camp. You need to beat them off in order to access the loot in their inventory. - Access the camp by touching your mouse to the area, double-click to open it and right-click to bring up the menu. The inventory should be highlighted, click on it to access it. - The camp has two zones: the camp, and the workshop. Camp: Camp is the inventory. In this zone you can: - Collect loot from bandit camps. - Do crafting. - Double click on a mob to dismember it. - Open the workshop and build stuff there. - Double click on an item to open the build menu and design stuff. - Crafting is important, because you will be able to craft all sorts of tools. - Crafting requires materials, which you collect and get from looting camps or the world. Workshop:

What's new:

BUNNY KING: HERO IS BACK is a FREE to play capture the flag on the Nintendo Switch with a total of 20 players, all looking to become the newest king of the realm! On top of the standard Battle Mode playstyle, you must play the king-of-the-hill Variant as a goal to become the new Bunny King! Heroes & Monsters take turns moving on a randomly generated board, exploring new areas, invading other characters' territories and battling for the majority of a turn, or when there's no other option, parking in empty space and lazing around. When heroes engage other heroes, heroes are able to choose to either deal or avoid damage. This results in heroes having different levels of health, and having different amount of damage done when injured. Depending on the Hero versions of the game, some may have 2 of the 4 damage types. In normal mode, if not damaged, the damage would be transferred to the target. Heroes that are not hit by damage will be healed for a percentage of the damage dealt, if the Hero is healed by Paragon Points. Heroes with lower health will be healed less than those with higher health. Once the health of a Hero reaches 0, he/she will be knocked out of the match; players must re-enter the match when their health or immunity have increased to be able to continue. While Heroes & Monsters play out their actions, the board itself plays a role to determine the winners and losers. Villains are standing on spaces that Heroes have not claimed and thus are in play, while all spaces reclaimed by Heroes are in darkness and seem to be Void. Since the board is generated randomly, players will have to read the board carefully to potentially claim these spaces for themselves later in the game. Villains are usually placed in the areas that Heroes are least likely to claim, but often key spots are claimed very early on in the game. It is possible to have a combative match without a Villain, although it is rather difficult to claim all the spaces and always claim the monster card. As soon as a player discards his/her monster card, the match has ended, if all heroes (including the Villain) are eliminated and the majority of the board is Void or Heart. Bunny King: Hero is Back is very fast-paced and chaotic - the faster the strategy, the more frantic the competition becomes. As a result, this can make
