Fantasy is not an abstract concept for me. I like to imagine what kind of life there is out there in the Universe. The vivid fantasies are full of joy, and I try not to lose that in my games. Even if I am not fond of the genre, but I like to bring such games to life. I am sorry if I am unable to deliver the impossible. I still have a lot of respect to such developers. Fans of such games should be able to enjoy a liveable experience. Platforms: Windows, Linux, SteamOS. I am a man of great sorrow and great joy, life is always a joy for me.

Raiders Of Chanyu [Win/Mac] [Latest]

This is a twin-stick shooter inspired by Metroid Prime 3. You play as one of an endless number of sperms. As one sperm, you must react to your surroundings, avoid walls and turrets, and destroy millions of other sperms before they are able to hit the "Honeycomb Egg." The game is incredibly difficult. As one sperm out of countlesss you must act quickly to destroy the egg before it leaves the area. "Be the Sperm" is a different kind of game in the way that you change parts of the game. This is done by using special isometric view. You can rotate the screen around so you see objects that you have not seen before. You can also rotate the view of the level to see things from an eye-level perspective. By rotating the view of the level, you can see a gun turret from all angles as if it were in an actual space. You can also freeze time while firing. This gives you unlimited ammo to shoot sperms. "Be the Sperm" is about trying to find a solution as a sperm. You will have many puzzles to solve that will challenge you to use your head as well as your hands. Trawling through a space that is full of weapons, turrets, and objects to get to the egg is both fun and frustrating. The setting of "Be the Sperm" is an insane maze with a honeycomb and many turrets. It can be called a maze shooter. An insane maze with many turrets and weapons. "Be the Sperm" brings many different ways to solve puzzles and use weapons in your arsenal. Similar to Metroid Prime 3. The controls and controls system is the same.  is a P25 member-owned professional services organization(i.e., professional association) founded in 1977 and headquartered in New London, New Hampshire. There are over 1,250 member companies that employ over 117,000 people throughout the nation. Golf for Workgroups provides P25 members with a complete line of diverse skills, including communications, consulting, localization, design, manufacturing, security, program management, testing and training. Beacon Center The Beacon Center is devoted to helping our members improve the way in which they deliver communications services to their clients. Beacon members are dedicated to providing innovative solutions that satisfy business demands and support the changing needs of an information-dependent society. Beacon Center members represent many industries that rely on commercial telephony services and that need customized solutions that help them achieve the best possible results. The Beacon Center is the association to which they look for the broadest range of services, including access to an excellent collection of general technical documents and training classes for their personnel and equipment. Telecommunications Signaling Committee The Telecommunications Signaling Committee (TSC) is a sub-committee of the Beacon Center which functions to encourage, support, improve, and advance the use of telephony signaling in education, including distance learning. With over 20 years of experience in the distance education arena, TSC is committed to the enhancement of telephony signaling within our association and beyond. Telecommunications Services for Students and Professionals (TSSP) TSSP was founded with the purpose of making telecommunications training affordable, accessible and confidential to educators and students; working out of this effort was the creation of the Beacon Center. TSSP continues to serve this same purpose today. Telecommunications Services for Students and Professionals (TSSP) is an affiliation and certification program under which call centers are accredited as a Gold Sponsor. 19-Year History of Excellence From its early days, TeleCommunications International, Inc. (TCI) led the way by recognizing that the telecommunications industry needed a professional organization whose members could be counted on to provide the best possible solutions to telecommunications problems. In 1978, TCI was established as a professional association and there was no question that the company's identity as a full-fledged communications provider was joined with the mission of the association. Model for Innovation The telecommunications industry changed rapidly as advancements in technology and the changes introduced by the Internet made their mark. Telecom was the first of the new entrants. TCI's primary goal was always to Ask me anything. How to play? A: 1. Level up Pick a skill of your choice (say, "Programming", which I would go with) and level it up by doing some project of your choice (say, "Improve your apartment"). You then get to choose the skill you want to level up next. Choose carefully! Each skill will open additional skills if you level it up, but they may also open more "unseens" which will prevent you from getting an idea you like. 2. Get better After you have leveled up all of your skills, you may go back to the apartment to level up your energy. You do this by eating (you get "energy" from doing a job or from cooking something), resting and pumping up skills (you get a "rest bonus" when you use a skill if you haven't leveled it up). 3. Go to the "Game Topic" page You will now see all of your ideas grouped into different topics (for instance, Programming, Design, etc.). You may mix up these topics to get new ones as you will learn certain skills to apply in developing games. You may also learn new skills, depending on which skills you level up and with what combinations (for instance, you may learn skills A and C, but B and D will be "unseens" without you mixing them up). 4. The Game Gameplay consists of just traveling the world and earning money, so you don't really need to learn anything else. You can buy a new idea with points earned in the world (you get a "Rest bonus" when your fortune is below a certain amount, or when you visit a "Hotel") or with "Hero points" earned by leveling up your skills. 5. Skills and Character Development Your character will level up by doing jobs, or by resting at an inn, or by pumping up skills. You can "unseens" various skills by mixing them up. The more skills you level up, the more skills you can open and the more power you have. 6. The rest of the game Basically, what happens next depends on how much power you earned by leveling up and how much "money" you have. If you have a lot of money (more than a certain amount) you may simply buy a new idea. If you have too little money, you will need to find a way to earn more. If you got a lot of power
