Q: Location Select using GET method I have a LocationSelect component that has a getter for "entries". What I want to do is pass the locationId to that component and use the getter to obtain the locations that are passed to it. The goal is to then create a checkbox component for each location. This is the LocationSelect component.

import React from 'react'; import LocationSelect from '~components/LocationSelect/locationSelect'; import Helmet from '~components/Helmet/helmet'; export default function LocationSelectPage({ locationId, onLocationSelect }) { const entries = useLocationsFromDatabase(locationId); return ( ); } This is the LocationSelect component (it's used as a child component of an Entry component).

import React from 'react'; import Helmet from '~components/Helmet/helmet'; import { Location } from '~locations/Location'; import { locationData, isLoading, keyExtractor } from '~locations/LocationSelect/locationSelect'; function LocationSelect({ entries, onLocationSelect,
