and our players is met.” In a league-wide effort to curb the spread of the coronavirus, MLS decided to look at the possibility of canceling all matches for the remainder of the season. The league decided against a one-game-at-a-time plan to mitigate the risk of spreading the virus. The league is hoping that by playing only one game, it will be safer for all of its players and fans. Major League Soccer hopes the week-long break will allow clubs to be at the top of their form when they resume play in just a few days. “This was a difficult decision to make,” Garber said. “But it is our hope that in the weeks and months ahead we will see a more normal and routine season for everyone involved, and that our fans can return to experiencing MLS and enjoying the game on the field.” The Galaxy and the United States national team face off at the Rose Bowl Stadium in Pasadena, California on Sunday, March 8 at 5 p.m. c6a93da74d
